NATURE: SPY IN THE WILD 2 • WED APR 29TH – MAY 20TH, 8 P.M.

SINGING GORILLAS. A dramatic hippo fight. Massive Komodo dragons on the hunt for mates. These are just a few of the many fascinating moments captured on camera in Spy in the Wild 2, a Nature miniseries premiering this month on THIRTEEN.

The four-part series is a sequel to Spy in the Wild, the groundbreaking 2017 Nature miniseries that offered an unprecedented look inside the animal world as seen through the lenses of animatronic spy cameras—or “spycams”—disguised as animals, secretly recording behavior in the wild. Enjoy an even closer look at some of the planet’s most fascinating creatures, filmed by a brand-new fleet of more than 50 animatronic animal spies, including a Spy Komodo Dragon, Spy Puffin, Spy Stork, Spy Koala, Spy Seal, Spy Gorilla, and more.

Spy in the Wild is one of our most innovative and ambitious films. It gives us an intimate look inside the animal world as never seen before, inspiring us to completely rethink the way we view and understand animals. The sequel places even more ‘spies’ in the middle of some of nature’s greatest events, and there’s never a shortage of surprises,” said Nature executive producer Fred Kaufman.

The series is off to a steamy start as the spy creatures visit The Tropics (Wed Apr 29th, 8 p.m.). Spy Gorilla becomes part of a real gorilla family in Uganda, but will he meet with the approval of the great Silverback? Spy Baby Elephant uncovers the secret world of pygmy forest elephants in Borneo, and Spy Cub gets a privileged view of a rare romantic moment between jaguars in Brazil.

In The North (Wed May 6th, 8 p.m.), Spy Macaque records how snow monkeys bathe and socialize at steaming hot thermal pools in the snow-covered mountains of Japan. In Canada, Spy Snake slithers along with male garter snakes to discover an imposter: a male pretending to be a female. In England, things get nifty for Spy Squirrel, who becomes caught in a fight between rival stags fighting over females.

The spy creatures explore the islands of the Southern Seas in The Islands (Wed May 13th, 8 p.m.). Spy Koala captures the action-packed breeding behavior of these normally slow-moving animals in footage filmed at Australia’s Kangaroo Island before the recent devastating fires. On Christmas Island, Spy Crab joins an army of red crabs as they emerge from burrows following a monsoon and march to the sea where they perform a victory dance that shakes their thousands of eggs into the ocean.

In the final episode, The Poles (Wed May 20th, 8 p.m.), Spy Chick gains an intimate view of life inside a penguin colony on the island of South Georgia. Spy Puffin joins male puffins on Norway’s Hornøya Island as they gather in the snow and search for their life-long partners. On Ellesmere Island, Spy Pup wins the trust of Arctic wolf cubs, who head out on their first hunt watched from above by Spy Snowy Owl.

MORE FROM NATURE
Also this month on Nature, get a glimpse of Cuba’s spectacular wildlife and landscapes, left virtually untouched for 50 years, in Cuba’s Wild Revolution (Wed 1st, 8 p.m.). Meet swamp rabbits, snowshoe hares, and other Remarkable Rabbits (Wed 8th, 8 p.m.) and the scientists working to save them from extinction.

Nature episodes will be available to stream following each broadcast via the Nature website (pbs.org/nature) and the THIRTEEN Explore app (thirteen.org/explore). ON APRIL 15, 2019, the world watched in shock as Notre Dame, the iconic cathedral in Paris, was ravaged by a fast-spreading fire and engulfed in flames. All humanity feared this masterpiece of Gothic architecture—one of the most famous cathedrals in the world—would be lost forever.

But Notre Dame stood firm. Four days after the devastating fire, architects and construction workers were able to stabilize the damaged structure of the famed cathedral. “It’s a miracle that the cathedral is still standing, and that all the relics were saved,” a Paris fire service official told The Associated Press.

What methods did the builders of Notre Dame employ to erect this iconic monument of Gothic art more than 800 years ago, and how did it emerge over the centuries as one of the world’s most celebrated and best-loved buildings? Find out in Secrets of the Dead: Building Notre Dame, premiering this month on THIRTEEN.

This new documentary takes viewers on a major historical and scientific investigation into the construction of Notre Dame, which began in the 12th century and was completed several hundred years later, then the highest cathedral in Europe. The world’s leading experts on Notre Dame—writers, historians, engineers, architects, and artisans—uncover the vast architectural, technical, human, financial, and political challenges that played out during cathedral’s turbulent history. Spectacular 3D animated sequences bring the cathedral’s extraordinary history to life.

In an exclusive interview filmed inside the cathedral, British novelist Ken Follett, a specialist in cathedral building sites in the Middle Ages, explains why Notre Dame is the most important construction of medieval Europe and the ultimate “symbol of European civilization.”

Yaan Potin, a historian and archivist at the University Paris XIII, analyzes the evolution of Notre Dame as an object of national worship and the worldwide emotion the 2019 fire aroused.

Olivier de Châlus, a PhD student in architectural history in Paris and a member of the scientific team at Notre Dame, shares fascinating insights about the innovative medieval construction techniques used to create the historic church.

As today’s architects work to restore Notre Dame, they face many of the same challenges that vexed 19th-century architect Viollet-le-Duc. Should they rebuild exactly as before? Should they innovate? Or should the world-famous cathedral—a place of worship for Catholics, a national symbol for the French, and a gem of global architectural heritage for all—return as closely as possible to the original structure from the Middle Ages?

“We will keep the old stones, which may be damaged but are structurally sound,” says Philippe Villeneuve, the chief architect in charge of Notre Dame’s restoration. “They are like the monument’s expressive wrinkles.”

Secrets of the Dead: Building Notre Dame will be available to stream beginning April 28th via the Secrets of the Dead website (pbs.org/secrets) and the THIRTEEN Explore app (thirteen.org/explore). Join the conversation on social media using the hashtag #SecretsDeadPBS.
THIRTEEN HAS LONG BEEN your home for great British programs, from epic costume dramas to riveting mysteries that keep you at the edge of your seat. Our popular Sunday night line-up is about to become even more scintillating thanks to some exciting April premieres. So get ready to tune in, stream, binge watch—and enjoy!

World on Fire (Sun Apr 5th-May 17th, 9 p.m.), a seven-part Masterpiece miniseries, follows the intertwining fates of several families in Britain, Poland, France, Germany, and the United States during the first year of World War II as daily life in Europe is about to be demolished by the Nazi invasion of Poland, the near debacle at Dunkirk, the fall of Paris, and more. Helen Hunt (Mad About You, Shakespeare Uncovered) stars as Nancy Campbell, an American radio reporter in Warsaw and Berlin trying to uncover the truth about the Nazi regime. Sean Bean (Game of Thrones) plays Douglas Bennett, a World War I veteran-turned-pacifist trying to cope with chronic shellshock while looking after his working-class family. Julia Brown (Shetland) is Bennett’s daughter Lois, a feisty armed services entertainer involved in a romance with upper-class translator Harry Chase (Jonah Hauer-King, Howards End on Masterpiece)—much to the dismay of his mother Robina, (Lesley Manville, Phantom Thread), a British fascist sympathizer. The stellar cast also includes Zofia Wichlacz (The Romanoffs) as Polish resistance fighter Kasia Tomaszeski, and Brian J. Smith as Webster O’Connor, an American doctor in occupied Paris enamored with a jazz musician named Albert (Parker Sawyers).

The Windermere Children (Sun 5th, 10 p.m.), tells the story of a group of teenaged Holocaust survivors sent to England’s remote, picturesque Lake District for a period of rehabilitation before re-entering society. The moving drama is inspired by a remarkable true story. In 1945, the British government accepted nearly 750 children rescued from Auschwitz and Belsen concentration camps, and 300 of these young, orphaned Jewish refugees were brought to Windermere before being found permanent homes.

As a THIRTEEN member, you can binge watch all seven episodes of World on Fire and all six episodes of Baptiste the night of the premiere with THIRTEEN Passport (thirteen.org/passport), our extensive, on-demand library of public television programming.

Baptiste (Sun Apr 12th-May 17th, 10 p.m.), a six-part Masterpiece crime drama set in Amsterdam. Tchéky Karyo revives his role as French detective and missing persons expert Julien Baptiste in this spin-off of the popular BBC series, which also stars Jessica Raine (Call the Midwife). While visiting his daughter in Amsterdam, Baptiste becomes drawn into a missing persons case that may be connected to a sex trafficking gang. As he searches for a missing prostitute in the seamy red light district, he uncovers a complex web of deceit and lies that may prove deadly for him and his family.

Great Performances at the Met: Akhnaten
Sun 5th, 12 p.m. • pbs.org/gperf

EXPERIENCE COMPOSER PHILIP GLASS’S visionary masterpiece portraying the impact of the Egyptian Pharaoh Akhnaten as he rises to the throne. Counter-tenor Anthony Roth Costanzo stars in the title role, alongside mezzo-soprano J’nai Bridges in her Metropolitan Opera debut as his wife, Nefertiti. To match the opera’s hypnotic music, director Phelim McDermott created an arresting vision including a virtuosic company of acrobats and jugglers. Karen Kamensek conducts in her Metropolitan Opera debut. Joyce DiDonato hosts.

Broken Places
Mon 6th, 10 p.m.

FIND OUT WHY SOME CHILDREN are severely damaged by early adversity while others thrive in this documentary by Roger Weisberg. By revisiting childhood trauma victims profiled decades ago, the film—part of THIRTEEN’s Chasing the Dream initiative on poverty and opportunity—illuminates how their experiences shaped their adult lives. These narratives and commentary from experts reveal the devastating impact of childhood adversity, as well as the resilience of these individuals. Tune in or watch online at pbs.org/brokenplaces.

Celebrate Spring With Cyberchase!

GET READY TO EXPLORE the outdoors! Eight all-new math and environmental adventures are coming to Cyberchase in April and May—on THIRTEEN and in two special PBS KIDS Family Night weekends on THIRTEEN PBSKIDS (kids.thirteen.org).

The fun begins as the CyberSquad ventures to the desert to solve a mystery of Missing Bats in Sensible Flats (Fri 17th, 7 p.m. on THIRTEEN PBSKids; Sun 19th, 9:30 a.m. on THIRTEEN). Join Digit, Matt, Jackie, and Inez for even more adventures as they raft down a roaring river to save a flooded watershed, journey beneath the soil to help some friendly crawling critters, and team up with Hacker to stop a new villain from zapping his beloved trees into thin air. Watch on THIRTEEN and online at pbskids.org/cyberchase.
Attention THIRTEEN Viewers:
Over-The-Air Viewers, Rescan Your TV on April 30

In connection with the broadcast spectrum auction, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) assigned THIRTEEN to a new broadcast frequency. Viewers who watch THIRTEEN on their TV using an antenna will be affected.

To continue watching THIRTEEN with a TV antenna, you must rescan your tuner or television after 11 a.m. on April 30. If needed, contact the manufacturer for help. Cable and satellite viewers are not affected.

For more information, visit thirteen.org or fcc.gov/TVrescan.
