Celebrate Great Women
CENTER STAGE

SOPRANO RENÉE FLEMING has enchanted legions of fans with her sumptuous voice, consummate artistry, and compelling stage presence. She has inspired a flower (the Renée Fleming iris), a chocolate dessert by Master Chef Daniel Boulud, a character in Ann Patchett’s novel Bel Canto—and she’s one of the extraordinary performing artists featured in our starry programming line-up celebrating Women’s History Month.

In Renée Fleming in Concert (Fri 19th, 9 p.m.), the season premiere of Great Performances at the Met. America’s beloved diva performs live in an intimate setting—her favorite arias by Puccini and Massenet to selections by Milós Forman (Hair, Amadeus, Ragtime), and her work on Movin’ Out and other Broadway musicals. Original interviews include Misty Copeland, Billy Joel, and David Byrne.

The documentary includes select performances from Tharp’s iconic works. A notable highlight is Tharp and Mikhail Baryshnikov rehearsing “Push Comes to Shove”—a dance piece also featured in Baryshnikov By Tharp, the Emmy-winning 1984 Great Performances/Dance in America special that revolutionized the way dance was filmed for television.

Country music legend Loretta Lynn tells her remarkable life story through audio interviews and classic performances in Loretta Lynn: My Story in My Words (Fri 25th, 8:30 p.m.). Enjoy a front-row seat for Tina Turner: One Last Time (Thu 25th, 8 p.m.), the legendary singer’s unforgettable final UK concert at Wembley Stadium in 2000.

Fast Forward Wed 24th, 10 p.m.

IF YOU COULD SEE your family’s future, would you change anything? Rosario Dawson narrates this documentary following four millennials and their parents as they travel through time to meet their future selves. Wearing an MIT-produced “aging empathy suit” and working with professional make-up artists, they grapple with the realizations, conversations, and mindset required to age successfully. Medical professionals and experts on aging share insights as the families learn they have more control than expected over how they age.
