AMERICAN MASTERS—
MARIAN ANDERSON:
THE WHOLE WORLD
IN HER HANDS
TUE 8TH, 9 P.M.
MARIAN ANDERSON was the first African American to perform for a United States Presidential inauguration and the first African American soloist to perform at New York’s Metropolitan Opera. Born in 1897, a granddaughter of enslaved Americans, she would continue to break barriers with a rare classical voice that famed conductor Arturo Toscanini hails as a voice “one only hears once in 100 years.”

American Masters explores the life, artistry, and legacy of African American contralto and civil rights figure Marian Anderson in Marian Anderson: The Whole World in Her Hands (Tue 8th, 9 p.m.), premiering on THIRTEEN in honor of Black History Month.

Directed by Rita Coburn (American Masters—Maya Angelou: And Still I Rise), the documentary is presented in the context of Anderson’s international rise to prominence and will also be available to stream on pbs.org/americanmasters and the THIRTEEN app (thirteen.org/anywhere).

Discriminated on the basis of a “Whites Only” concert policy at the Daughters of the American Revolution’s Constitution Hall in Washington, D.C., Marian Anderson defied the conscience of her time by performing for an integrated audience of over 75,000 on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial in 1939. The concert reached millions of radio listeners around the world. Her legendary Freedom Concert became an inspiration to the growing Civil Rights Movement, inspiring a 10-year-old Martin Luther King Jr. to later publish a winning oratorical citing the experience. The relatively new Lincoln Memorial was then seen as the center of American protest for the 1963 March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom and generations to come.

With unprecedented access to the Marian Anderson Estate, the documentary draws on rare audio recordings, photographs, and personal correspondence to and from family and friends, including...

Additional premieres in honor of Black History Month include Independent Lens: Owned: A Tale of Two Americas (Mon 7th, 10 p.m.), which examines how mid-century housing policy in America simultaneously created suburbs and wealth for white people and ghettos and poverty for Black people. The film explores the promise of U.S. housing policies, the systematic oppression in many of America’s “chocolate cities,” and the communities these systems have created.

American Experience: The American Diplomat (Tue 15th, 9 p.m.) profiles African American diplomats who represented the best of American ideals during the Cold War, but faced discrimination at home.

Fannie Lou Hamer’s America (Tue 22nd, 9 p.m.), a special presentation from WORLD Channel’s America ReFramed series and Black Public Media, tells the story of the fearless Mississippi sharecropper-turned-civil-rights-activist known in the 1960s and 70s for her powerful speeches, soul-stirring songs, and impassioned pleas for equal rights.

American Experience: Riveted: The History of Jeans
Tue 7th, 9 p.m.

DISCOVER THE FASCINATING and surprising story of the ultimate American garment. Worn by everyone from presidents to supermodels, farmers to rock stars, jeans are more than just a pair of pants. From their roots in slavery to the Wild West, youth culture, the Civil Rights Movement, rock and roll, hippies, high fashion, and hip-hop, jeans are simultaneously universal and individual—and they’re the fabric on which the history of American culture and politics are writ large.
