SECRETS OF THE DEAD: Archaeology at Althorp

Sun 9th, 8 p.m.
PBS.ORG/SECRETS
SINCE HE WAS a child, Charles Spencer—9th Earl, Spencer and brother to the late Diana, Princess of Wales—has been fascinated by the story of a lost village believed to lie somewhere in the grounds of Althorp, the vast ancestral home that has been in the Spencer family for more than 500 years. Now a bestselling author and historian, Spencer wants to find the lost village and learn about the people who lived there. And so, for the first time in Althorp’s history, he opens its gates to archaeologists.

Secrets of the Dead: Archaeology at Althorp (Sun 9th, 8 p.m.) follows a team of archaeologists led by Dr. Cat Jarman and Professor Mark Horton from Oxford University as they reveal one of the most significant archaeological finds of the century to Spencer. The film, premiering on THIRTEEN, pbs.org/secrets, and the THIRTEEN app (thirteen.org/anywhere), kicks off Secrets of the Dead’s 20th season, which includes new episodes airing in October and November.

The family legend of a lost Anglo Saxon village stems from mention of a village called Olletorp in the Domesday Book—a comprehensive record of land value and ownership in 11th century England—located somewhere on the family estate. As the archaeologists search for the village, they find artifacts from throughout history, going back at least as far the Roman occupation ending in 410 AD. But Spencer and the team find something that might be far older and far more important.

Last Days in Pompeii (Wed 19th, 10 p.m.) examines what the final days in Pompeii were like before the eruption of Mount Vesuvius 2,000 years ago. The dazzling discovery of an ornate, four-wheeled ceremonial wooden chariot provides new insight into the social classes of the ancient city. “It’s the Lamborghini of this ancient world,” says Amherst professor Eric Poehler, an expert on ancient infrastructure in Pompeii.

The End of the Romans (Wed 26th, 10 p.m.) follows an in-depth investigation into the decline of the Roman Empire that draws frightening parallels to today. Scientists from all disciplines are accumulating clues to show that three successive waves of deadly epidemics and powerful temperature drops could have caused the collapse of the Empire. Is history repeating itself?

WITH HISPANIC HERITAGE MONTH in full swing, join us as we celebrate with documentaries, music specials, and more. POV: The Last Out (Mon 3rd, 10 p.m.) follows three Cuban baseball players who risk exile to chase their dream of playing in the U.S. major leagues. A woman with a mysterious past flees to a young girls’ academy in La Otra Mirada (Sundays at 11 p.m., beg 9th; pictured), a 13-part Spanish drama series set in 1920s Seville. Latino rock greats Los Lobos, the salsa-rap-reggae-funk band Ozomatli, and the all-female mariachi band Flor de Tolache take center stage in the uplifting musical fiesta Dia de Los Muertos (Fri 28th, 9 p.m.). Enjoy encores of American Masters: Rita Moreno: Just a Girl Who Decided to Go For It (Sat 1st, 10 p.m.) and In Concert at The Hollywood Bowl: Hecho en Mexico (Fri 28th, 10 p.m.).

Rising Against Asian Hate: One Day in March
Mon 17th, 9 p.m. • pbs.org/exploringhate

FOLLOWING THE AFTERMATH of the March 2021 mass shootings at three spas in Atlanta, this new film chronicles how the Asian American community came together to fight back against hate. Offering a conversation about race, class, and gender, the film—part of The WNET Group’s Exploring Hate: Antisemitism, Racism and Extremism initiative—takes a deep dive into this critical moment of racial reckoning, exploring the struggles and triumphs, progress and setbacks, discrimination and achievements of AAPI communities.

Nature: Running With the Beest
Wed 19th, 8 p.m. • pbs.org/nature

THE GREAT EAST AFRICAN MIGRATION is one of the most impressive mass movements of land animals on Earth. Over a million wildebeest, with zebra, gazelle, and elands, journey in a quest to find fresh grass. Maasai guides Derrick Nabaala and Evalyn Sintoya have spent the last 10 years tracking the wildebeest as they migrate through Kenya’s Mara ecosystem. They expose the modern-day conflict between people and wildlife, and share new ideas for co-existence in a changing world. Season 41 premiere.
